

Introduction

My name is Rupa. I am originally from Nepal, and currently I am studying in the United States for my higher studies. Right now, I am doing my master's degree here. I have always been curious to learn new things and improve myself. That is one of the main reasons I decided to come abroad to get more exposure, better opportunities, and grow both academically and personally. Life here is very different compared to Nepal, but I am slowly adjusting and learning many new things every day. It has been a good experience so far, and I am enjoying this new chapter of my life.

Hobby

During my free time, I like doing different activities to relax my mind. I enjoy reading novels, listening to music, going for hikes, and just exploring new places. Sometimes I also enjoy staying quiet and spending time by myself. I feel very refreshed when I go close to nature or listen to calming music. I love trying out new experiences whether it is visiting a new place, trying new food, or learning something I have not done before.

Past work experience

Before coming to the U.S., I worked as a software developer in Nepal. I was working at a company called Frost Digital Ventures, where I mostly used the React framework to build websites and web applications. It was my first job in the tech field, and I learned so many practical things like writing clean code, working in a team, meeting deadlines. That job gave me a strong foundation in software development, and I am very thankful for that experience.
